OHIO DEMOCRATS MET.

State Convention In Session at Zanesville Today.

THE M'LEAN MEN IN CONTROL.

This Practically Settled at the Preliminary Meetings-Judge Mooney Selected For Permanent Chairman-Members of the State and Resolutions Committees.

Zanesville, O., Aug. 30.—The Democratic state convention met here today. The result was decisively forecasted in the preliminary meetings last evening. The McLean men carried a large majority of the 21 congressional districts and will control not only the convention, but also all the party machinery in Ohio until the next presidential election, since the members of all committees have been selected and through them all the officers of the convention, as well as those who will be in charge of the campaign. The McLean men are disposed to be liberal to their opponents. After it was found that McLean had at the district meetings secured control of all committees, many called on him last night and promised support from unexpected quarters.

McLean and his managers then advised that all the candidates for governor be voted for on the first ballot, as originally instructed, and it was even suggested that there might be two ballots, so as to give as many complimentary votes as possible to the opposing candidates. It was thought that this would make them feel better for the campaign and also show what foundation there was for the claims of some of the Columbus managers of Colonel Kilbourne. At the same time it would afford an opportunity for an enthusiastic and dramatic scene when all the scattering delegations flocked to the McLean standard on the second ballot. Mr. Mc-Lean was quite modest in acknowledging the ovations last evening. The visiting clubs and delegations serenaded him. He acknowledged their congratulations with thanks, but made no speeches. Colonel Kilbourne was equally happy in his acknowledgments of serenades and sometimes did more talking. Some candidates for other places on the state ticket had very lively demonstrations in their interest, and

Bryan and McLean. It is quite probable that the name of Mr. McLean will be presented to th convention very briefly. Mr. McLean does not know who will present his name. McLean does not believe much in speeches. He says he would preter to have his name presented without commendation or a word of comment.

General A. J. Warner will present the name of Colonel Kilbourne in a stirring speech, and much eloquence will be expended on the other candi-

The preliminary meetings were in some cases much more spirited than expected. The Kilbourne men contested every place on the long lists. The result showed that the McLean men carried 14 of the 21 congressional districts to five for the combined opposition, with the two Cleveland districts contested. As the McLean men control the committee on credentials, they claim that they have the convention 16 to 5 by districts, as well as 16 to 1 for free silver. The McLean men carried the Toledo district by only three votes and two other districts by only one vote each, one of the latter being the district of Congressman Norton, who is the Mc-Lean man, for permanent chairman. The other close shave was in the Fifteenth district, in which Zanesville is located, and also Marietta, the home of General A. J. Warner, who will present Kilbourne's name. At the district meeting General Warner spoke bitterly against the McLean men. After a free-mall fight the anti-McLean men bolted and left the room before this district meeting was concluded. The JcLean men control the contests, the construction of the platform and everything else and neld a noisy jollification.

There have been several unpleasant passages between leaders, notably one between Congressman John J. Lentz and Allen W. Thurman. The following are the members of the new state committee and of the commit-

For permanent chairman, Judge W. P. Mooney of St. Marys, defeating Congressman Norton by a vote of 12 to 9. For permanent secretary, W. L. Finley of Bucyrus, defeating, by a vote of 12 to 9, Thomas J. Cogan of Cincinnati.

W. E. Decker of Paulding, tor assist ant secretary; A. A. Shetteler of Columbus, for sergeant-at-arms, and W. E. Kenan for assistant were elected without opposition.

The Kilbourne men and other arti-McLean men claimed this as a 12 to. victory, as Dr. Norton and Thomas Cogan are known to be strong McLeau men. The McLean men said they could afford to be magnanimous, that Judge Mooney is impartial and there is no objection to him as there was to Nortou, who had become objectionable to some anti-McLean men. There had been some hostile talk about the use the McLean men might make of the organization on the bailoting, and the opposition was conceded the man to keep the counting. There had been talk about the McLean men, through the local committee, getting most of the tickets to pack the hall, and one of the Kilbourne men from Columbus was made sergeant-at-arms with a McLean man from Cincinnati as his first assistant. The McLean men say they fought for everything in sight at the district meeting, and were working to get all in line for the election and wanted to leave with as perfect harmony as possible, feeling assured that there can be no complaint of the result on nominations or anything else under such a conceded organization of the convention.

The report of the committee on rules limited speeches to ten minutes. The McLean men organized the state committee, 14 to 5, with two contested absentees. A unanimous report was made on the plan for party organization recommending that the convention again refer it to the state committee.

The McLean men were taking everything in the committee on credentials. There were about 100 votes contested. There will be a minority report.

The committee on resolutions spent the night hearing representatives of labor organizations, of tax reformers and other specialists, including even the later day interpreters of the "Golden Tange, intelligent Japanese tea merchants of this city, received a copy of The Chu Kizo Shinko, a newspaper printed in Nagoga, Japan, July 22, which contains a dispatch from Manila, concerning the alleged death of Aguin-aido. Under the heading "New Phil-ippine Information," the paper prints the following:

"In the latter part of June, near San Fernando, Aguinaldo was killed by General Pio del Pilar. Pilar visited him to inquire about the death of General Luna, and Aguinaldo answered that he never knew anything about this case, and told Pilar to mind his own business. General Pilar then called Aguinaldo a liar and, pulling a pistol, shot Aguinaldo in the torehead, killing him in-

Colonel Cordier Said He Was So Convinced.

FIRST THOUGHT HIM GUILTY.

Said He Believed Henry Committed Forgery, Because Jealous of Picquart. Mercier Admitted Sandherr Said He Believed Dreyfus' Brother Was Honest.

RENNES, France, Aug. 30.—Colonel Cordier, deputy chief of the intelligence department under the late Lieutenant Colonel Heury, and who, since his previous appearance in court had been released by the minister of war, General de Marquis de Galiffet, from his oath of professional secrecy, was the first witness called at the second session of the fourth week of the second trial by courtmartial of Captain Dreyfus.

The Dreyfusards expected that Colonel Cordier, who was deputy chief of the intelligence department under the late Colonel Henry, would testify that the bordereau was received directly by the late Colonel Sandherr. Had this expectation been realized, the testimony would have been a strong point in favor of the accused, because it would have been a reply to the anti-Dreyfusards, who have all along contended that Henry received the bordereau and forwarded it to Sandherr, a thing he would not have done had the bordereau been, as the Dreyfusards assert, written by his accomplice, Ester-hazy, for, in that event, Henry would have recognized the handwriting when he received the bordereau from the German embassy and would have suppressed it instead of forwarding it to Colonel Cordier, however, testified that he was absent from the intelligence department when the bordereau arrived, but that he believed it was received by Henry.

Naturally this statement elated the anti-Dreyfusards, but they had no good reason to congratulate themselves upon the remainder of Cordier's testimony, as it was wholly in favor of Dreyfus.

The colonel declared that his belief in the guilt of Dreyfus was first shaken! when the date of the bordereau was given as May. The witness declared stoutly that he was now convinced Dreyfus was innocent.

Colonel Cordier then spoke up strongly for Colonel Picquart as a conscientious soldier and an honorable man, and threw light upon the situation which existed in the offices of the intelligence department of the war office. He explained that Henry was jealous of Picquart because the latter was given charge of the statistical section, which Henry had hoped to get for himself. Cordier expressed the belief that it was because of Picquart that Henry committed his forgery.

Dreyfus spoke a few words at the conclusion of Colonel Cordier's statements. He said the scene which preceded his arrest was so fantastic that it completely bewildered him and merely les blunted impression on his memory.

Major Lauth first confrotned Colonel

The major commented upon Colonel Cordier's testimony, especially the statement that there were no anti-Semites on the headquarter's staff, remarking that there was one exception and that this was Cordier himself, who was always expressing antipatny to the Jews, especially when there was a question of introducing Dreyfus to the department.

"Yes," exclaimed Cordier, "quite true. I was an anti-Semite, but my opinions never went to the length of bringing false evidence against the Jews. [Sensation.] I am an honest man and have a conscience." [Renewed excitement.]

Colonel Cordier then administered a well deserved snub to Major Lauth by remarking that he (the colone) might be allowed to know more than Major Lauth with reference to the work of the intelligence department since he (Cordier) replaced Colonel Sandherr as chief of the department whenever Sandherr was absent, while Major Lauth, the witness concluded, was merely my assistant. My assistant, mark you.

Major Lauth did not enjoy this little scene at all. General Roget next confronted Colonel Cordier. His evidence was not very striking, nor was that of Colonel Fleur or Archivist Gribelin, who also contested minor points of Cordier's deposition. Finally General Mercier confronted Colonel Cordier. The general's remarks were of small importance, the most interesting being his repetition of Colonel Sandherr's opinion of Mathieu Dreyfus Sandnerr said:

"Mathieu Dreyfus impressed me as hief fund are still being made and an honest man who was prepared to make any sacrifice to save his brother."

Seven thousand people thronged the grounds and streets about the Taylor homestaad.

In response the president said:

"As I voice, appreciation of this welcome, I can't help recalling that from this very place year in and year out, I have met this people and they always gave me the same generous greeting, you have always been firm in your friendship for me, and though I have been absent for more than four years, that regard I feel for you has never abated.

Mrs. McKinley came out on the porch for a minute to bow to the crowd and was given an ovation. The demonstra-

The government censorship prevents correspondents from cabling the truth, and the same applies to Hairi, which sympathetically desires the suppression of the revolution. Cape Haitien, Haiti, Aug. 30.—News reached here from Santo Domingo confirming the report of the defeat by the revolutionists of General Pepin in command of a government force, who lost 30 men killed and had 40 of his soldiers captured. In addition, General Pepin was compelled to abandon a convoy of provisions.

Further fighting has taken place near Monte Christi between the revolutionists under General Davarro and the government troops commanded by General Guelito.

They are placed on the smaller twigs in masses, reaching nearly or quite around the twig, abruptly rounded at each end and covered with a glistening, frothy varnish. Each mass contains about 200 eggs. The caterpillars do not come from the eggs until the following spring.

Every healthy cocoon that is destroyed means one less moth, and as a fair percentage will be females each one of which will probably lay two hundred eggs, it is apparent that collecting and destroying of the cocoons means a decided decrease in the number of caterpillars next year. True, some useful parasites will be destroyed. but not enough to balance the good that will be done by destroying the healthy cocoons.

Now that school is out give the girls and boys a chance to earn a little spending money by collecting the cocoons at so much per hundred. As an interesting lesson in nature study encourage them to keep a few cocoons in a covered box and watch for the moths. Some will produce wasp-like insects instead of moths. These are papasites and are useful because they destroy the caterpillers. The work must be done at once as the moths, will soon escape and then it will be too late.

Early in July the egg masses may be found on the twigs. They will show plainer when the leaves are gone this fall. Of course it will be impractical in most cases to collect them from the forest trees. But unless the trouble to find them. These egg masses should be searched for especially

Will Develop the Property For Iron, Which Is Believed to Exist In Large Quantities - Our Growing Trade With Cuba.

[Special Correspondence.]

HAVANA, Aug. 10.-Though there is stili considerable political turmoil here. one scarcely notices it outside the newspapers, the clubs, cafes and hotel corridors. Business goes on about as it always does at this season of the year, and there are comparatively few disturbances of a political or other character.

There is a steady improvement in the condition of affairs here and throughout the island generally, though there is still chance for improvement. In the departments of Santiago and Matanzas-Santa Clara, however, the improvement has been very marked, and too much cannot be said in praise of Generals Wood and Wilson, who are respectively in command of these departments.

The slow but steady return of Cuba's commercial and industrial activities under the protection of the United States and the multiplying ties of business that are being formed between the islanders and our people are having a most salutary effect.

The end of Spanish rule came only five months before the last of May, 1899, and the six next preceding Cuba exported to the United States United States has absorbed eleven-People who wear false hair will be thirteenths of Cuba's exports.

The exports from the United States to Cuba show a like encouraging increase. For the 11 months named our exports of agricultural implements were $31.692 against $7,817 for the corresponding period of the preceding year; of cotton cloths, $351,497 against $12,163; of wearing apparel, $98,294 against $11,715; of builders' hardware. $224,100 against $56,961.

Day by day Americans are becoming more closely allied with the commercial interests of the island. The latest big transaction of which I have heard is the purchase of the islets of La Cruza and La Ramon, off the coast of the province of Puerto Principe by an American syndicate. The price paid is said to be $1,000,000.

General A. G. Greenwood, who was during the civil war, has been the active representative of the American capitalists. Before returning to New York the other day, he said:

"We believe we have a bonanza in La Cruza and La Ramon. We are satisfied that there are immense quantities of iron there, but we also have reason to believe that there are hidden there the vast-treasures taken from Panama when that city was the richest in the Americas. This is no Captain Kidd yarn. Historical records show that the treasures of Panama were taken to La Cruza and La Ramon, accomplished I am of the impression that something will be done that will prouse worldwide interest."

Speaking of present conditions in Cuba, General Greenwood said:

"Matters in Cuba are generally quiet just now, something really remarkable in the history of the island. Like Micawber, the people here are waiting for something to turn up. But it would be idle to say that the people are not dissatisfied, but that dissatisfaction is the result of lack of knowledge of what may transpire. Some favor an independent government, but many want annexation to the United States."

General Greenwood thinks that a plebiscite would be a good means of determining what shall be done with Cuba, but expresses the opinion that it would not be wise to give the Cubans free rein just at present. This opinion is shared by all Americans who have investments here.

[LETTER TO MRS. PINKHAM NO. 72,896]

SAVED BY MRS. PINKHAM.

"You have saved my life, snatched me from the brink of the grave almost, and I wish to thank you. About eighteen months ago I was a total wreck, physically. I had been troubled with leucorrhœa for some time, but had given hardly any attention to the trouble.

"At last inflammation of the womb and ovaries resulted and then I suffered agonies, had to give up my profession (musician and piano player), was confined to my bed and life became a terrible cross. My husband summoned the best physicians, but their benefit was but temporary at best. I believe I should have contracted the morphine habit under their care, if my common sense had not intervened.

"One day my husband noticed the advertisement of your remedies and immediately bought me a full trial. Soon the pain in my ovaries was gone. I am now well, strong and robust, walk, ride a wheel, and feel like a girl in her teens. I would not be without Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; it is like water of life to me. I am very gratefully and sincerely your wellwisher, and I heartily recommend your remedies. I hope some poor creature may be helped to health by reading my story."-Mrs. Col. E. P. The statement of the fi tion of the island of Cuba, given out for publication by the war department on Monday, is important, showing as it does that under the economical and intelligent management of the United States government the receipts of the island from January 1, 1899, to June 30 of the current year, exceed the expenditures by $1,470.022. This will doubtless prove a surprise to the uninformed, as in some quarters the suspicion has existed that Cuba under the military occupation of the United States was not self sustaining.

The Hon. William Lloyd Garrison. who was one of the wailers at the meeting of the Peace Union last week, said among other things that President Mc-Kinley should have resigned his office rather than allow the country to go to war, and that Admiral Dewey should have retired to private citizenship rather than help to carry out the administration's policy in the Philippines. Fortunately for the country, the men who did everything in their power to avert the war did not act the part of cowards when they found that it was mevitable. When the destinies of the nation are controlled by Mugwumps like William of Edward Atkinson, it will not be strange to see men deserting from their proceed in the course it is now pursuing, while members of the universal Peace Union relieve their pent up feelings by telling each other what a cruel, cruel nation we are.

In order to encourage "our business men generally," Mr. Thomas says we must have "reciprocity or free trade with the world." In other words we must have a return of Clevelandism or the policy under which in four years the farmers of the United States suffered an aggregate loss of fully five billions of dollars by reason of diminished consumption and decreased values of farm products. What was lost by the work-people during that distressful period of free trade tariff legislation can scarcely be computed. In any event the majority of business and working men have been so much the gainers through present conditions that they will not welcome a return of the lower food prices and accompanying deprivations of "reciprocity, or free trade with the world."

The change which has apparently taken place in the moral atmosphere of nours revives hope in the ultimate triumph of justice in the case of Captain Dreyfus. THE PLATFORM. The platform agreed upon by the committee re-affirms the Chicago platform of 1896, especially emphasizing the financial plank and demanding unlimited free coinage of silver and gold as equal primary money at the rate of 16 to 1, independent of all other nations: declares for Bryan for president: opposes imperialism and entangling alliances: commends the declaration of congress that the war with Spain was for humanity, not for conquest: extois the valor of our soldierss, but declares that they are being used unlawfully to crush a dawning republic in the Orient: demands that the Cubars and Filippiles be permitted to found republics: denounces the Hanna and Payue salpping oil: favors the maintenance of a navy; opposes a large standing army; favors initiative and referendum; eight-hour labor law: inspection of sweat-shops and abolition of the contract system and prison labor: declares that the gold standard and tariff are responsible for trusts, and demands that all articles controlled by trusts be put on the free list; denounces Attorney General Grigg and commends State Attorney Monnett; opposes any addition to the national bonded debt: demands economy in public expenditures and a reduction of taxation: believes that honest political leaders are a necessity, but says political bosses are to be detested; affirms that the Republican party in Ohio is now under the control of bosses, and its candidates are named by their dictation. representing Hannaism and Coxism only: deplores the lynching of colored citizens, and favors the election of president, vice president and senators by direct vote of

Much time was devoted to nominating speeches, the following candidates being presented: James A. Rice, of Canton, by Representative Allen: James Kilbourne. of Columbus, by General A. J. Warner. seconded by A. W. Patrick: Charles N. Haskell, of Ottawa, by Charles W. Baker. of Defiance; John R. McLean, of Cincinnati, by James A. Norton: Isaac R. Sherwood, of Toledo, by John A. Wright: James A. Seward, of Mansfield, by ex-Representative Curtis. A call for votes resulted in McLean being nominated on the first ballot, receiving 4024 votes. JOHN R. M'LEAN.

John R. McLean was born in Cincinnati, September 1, 1848. He went from Harvard to Germany. After he served in all the departments of the Euquirer. he became half owner in 1872 and sole owner in 1881. He has conducted the Cincinnati Enquirer over a quarter of a century, and its success is due to him. He has succeeded in many other enterprises, and has been a staunch supporter of organized labor and a friend of the poor. When the price of coal was raised in Cincinnati, while the Ohio river was went into the coal business, sold at the old price to workingmen, and gave coal free to the poor. He wrecked the combine. During the summers he gives toe free to the poor of Cincinnati, and his donations annually to local charities are large. Every Christmas he distributes from five to ten thousand dollars to the poor of Cincinnati. While Mr. McLean has never held public office, he has been a powerful factor in politics. Through the Enquirer he started, over a quarter of a century ago, the cry, "Rise up, Wilham Alien " It resulted in the late ex-Senator William Allen being nominated and elected governor, the first time the Ohio Democrats then had elected a governor for twenty years, the Republicans having had an unbroken guber. only catherize to take with flood's Sarsaparila natorial succession in Chase, Dennison, Tod, Brough, Cox, Hayes and Noyes. Governor Allen was afterward endorsed by the Ohio Democracy for President in 1876. Mr. McLean was also a leader in the election of Governor Bishop to 1377. of Governor Hoadley in 1883, and of Governor Campbell in 1889, these four being the only Democratic governors elected in Ohio since 1853. Mr. McLean not only brought out the first winning Democratic candidate for governor in his generation in William Allen, in 1873, but he also furnished the issue then in his opposition to a contracted currency.

In 1885 McLean was the Democratic nominee for senator against Sherman. Two years ago McLean was the generally recognized candidate of the Democrats for senator and Senator Hanna of the Republicans. Mr. McLean has been prominent at national as well as at local and state conventions. When Hancock was nominated for President at Cincinnati, in 1880. McLean took a conspicuous part. In 1884 he was one of the Ohio delegates at large and chairman of the Ohio delegation. He has been one of the Ohio delegates at large at succeeding national conventions and is still the Ohio member of the national Democratic committee. At the last Democratic national convention he was a prominent candidate for the presidency and declined the nomination for vice president.

UNION FOR COMMERCE

SOUTH AMERICAN REPUBLICS GET-TING CLOSER TOGETHER.

Their Talk of Combine, However. Not One of Hostility to the United States, but For Commercial Advancement-Aggregate Strength.

[Special Correspondence.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—The state department is not lying awake nights worrying over the rumored alliance of . the South American republics, which are reported to be combining with hostile intent against the United States. The department has positive assurances from diplomatic representatives of nearly all of the South and Central American states of their most friendly and cordial feeling toward this country, and there is no ground for supposition that there will be any break in these relations. There is no doubt, however, that the South American republics are gradually working toward a closer commercial union among themselves, which may or may not be of advantage to us. That depends upon how promptly and efficiently we are able to meet the commercial conditions of those countries.

With no hostility toward the United States the presidents of several of the South American republics have been meeting in conference—sort of mutual admiration societies and love feasts, the purpose of which has been to advance their respective commercial interests. President Campos Salles of Brazil and President Julio Roca of the Argentine Republic have been the chief movers in this commercial union, the principal meeting having been recently held in Buenos Ayres.

While there is no probability of this country ever coming into conflict with the South American states, it is interesting to note what sort of a front the united republics would be able to put up against a common enemy.

Chile. Argentina and Brazil have quite respectable navies, the strength of which may be summarized as fol-

Armored Cruisers-Argentina, 9; Brazil, 7; Chile, 5; total, 21. Protected Cruisers-Argentina, 4; Brazil, 4;

Chile, 4; total, 12. Gunboats—Argentina, 7; Brazil, 6; total, 13.
Torpedo Gunboats—Argentina, 8; Brazil, 1; Chile, 7; total, 11.

Torpedo Destroyers-Argentina, 13; Brazil, 9; Chile, 21; total, 43.

Total fighting craft of all kinds, 100. Outside of Argentina, Brazil and Chile the navies of the coast republics of South America need hardly be taken into consideration. Peru has a cruiser of 1,700 tons, a screw steamer and ten various small vessels of no real value. Paraguay has a screw steamer of 440 tons, carrying four guns, and two small river steamers.

The united republics would be very

The Argentine Republic has a standing army of 29,513 officers and men. The number of men enrolled in the national guard is 480,000.

Brazil has an effective army of 28,-160 men, of whom 4,000 are officers. In addition there are 20,000 gendarmes. The total military strength of Brazil in times of war is placed at 560,000. But the military spirit is not pronounced in Brazil, and little attention has been paid to military instruction.

Under existing laws the Chilean standing army is limited in times of peace to 9,000 officers and men. Besides the regular army there is a national guard, service in which is compulsory for every man between the ages of 20 and 40. The enrolled strength of the national guard is 512,-

The military strength of the other South American republics is substantially as follows: Bolivia, regulars, 2 000; reserves, 80,000; Colombia, regulars. 1,000; reserves, 100,000; Ecuador, regulars, 3,300; reserves, 30,000; Paraguay, regulars, 1,500; reserves, 50,000; Peru, regulars, 3,000; reserves, 40,000; Uruguay, regulars, 3,200; reserves, 20,-000; Venezuela, regulars, 3,500; reserves, 60,000.

The combined republics would, according to these figures, have a regular army of $4.420 and reserved force of 2,000,000. But any discussion of an army of 2,000,000 men raised by the South American republics is puerile. Such an army, even if it could be enlisted, could not be effectively organized. The jealousy of rival commanders would result in civil war in 48

But any talk of actual hostilities between this country and the South American states is simply one of those "Midsummer Night's Dreams" with which the space writers are wont to tide over the dull season.

ELIZA ARCHARD CONNER WRITES OF PHILIPPINES' WEALTH.

American Capital to Be Invested In Mahogany Lumbering-Vast Forest of Valuable Woods - Varied Products of the Archipelago.

[Special Correspondence.]

Manila, July 3.—The future of the Fhilippines as a question of national political policy is something with which, once for all, these letters have nothing to do. But if the people of the United States only knew of the richness, the fertility and the magnificent industrial possibilities of these islands part with the state of California or Pennsylvania.

lumber for building purposes must be shipped there from our Pacific coast. The Philippine Islands, on the other hand, are covered with hard wood timber of the rarest and most valuable varieties. Mahogany, for instance, has become so scarce near home that the ingenuity of wood workers is taxed to the uttermost to find substitutes for it.

Here are thousands of acres of virgin mahogany forest, with trees 200 feet high and thick through in proportion. A number of soldiers and officers from one of the northwestern regiments are organizing a company here to start, so soon as their time expires in the army, a colony to go to Mindanao, cut down mahogany trees, square the logs and ship them to the States and to Europe to be worked up. There will be millions in this trade so soon as Americans take historic record I find that Chinese coolhold and open it up, for here is mahogany enough to supply the world for the float, but sink like lead or iron when put into the water. They must therefore be loaded upon scows or schooners and conveyed to the place of shipment. How it would wake the echoes here to have mahogany logs in these slumbering forests hauled from the woods by a steam engine and cable, as is done in forests in the States sometimes. The scarce and beautiful ebony wood is among those found here, likewise the Manila, it is no more than truth to say fragrant sandal wood and the camphor

Of the luscious cocoanut and cacao (chocolate) tree groves I have spoken in | believed the American soldier was a former letter. Every day I see india rubber trees 25 feet or more in height growing in the yards here, their stiff, brilliant green leaves glistening with the sheen of a summer sea. These are of the same kind as those box plants we keep in our windows at home in the bananas, pincapples and cocoanuts. It ing thing that will withstand the united ern states carried with them to Manila attack of gas, coal smoke, dust and neg- in some cases ancient Confederate lect. There are natural groves of them, only waiting to be tapped to yield a fortune to Americans so soon as this unpleasantness shall be over. Other rubber groves can be planted to come on when the old ones are gone. Only the white man's all conquering vim is needed.

The most dainty and exquisite textile fabric, more beautiful than silk, is the pina, or pineapple, cloth, made by the natives here. It is scarcely possible to obtain it at all in the States, and here, with the raw material all about, it is scarce and expensive simply because the natives are too lazy and indifferent to make it in quantities large enough to give it an established place among commercial wares. Some of the embroidered pina cloths are worthy a place in art collections the world over. The only thing a native Filipino woman can do well, so far as I have been able to find, is to embroider, and this she learned from the Spanish nuns, bless their gentle, antediluvian souls!

Suppose, merely to amuse yourself, you glance over the following list of articles produced here. It is only a partial list, bear in mind.

Rice, sugar and tebacco in immense quantities; manila hemp, which is not hemp at all, but a banana plant fiber, ditto; bamboo canes, from which the light and graceful baskets, furniture, etc., now so much in demand, is made -so abundant as to be a great nuisance; indigo, mangoes, melons in great vari ety, hananas, the most abundant and delicious to be found anywhere; indian corn, coffee, cotton, peanuts, potatoes and yams, all the ordinary garden vegetables, tar and turpentine, honey, cinnamon, many medicinal herbs, and plants yielding drestuffs in rare and splendid colors. Orchids and botanical specimens of the choicest flourish luxuriantly as well. In no corner of the globe could students' investigating parties find more of profit, interest and

In Albay, the province occupying the south end of , Luzon, are veins 20 to 25 feet thick. of the same scarce mineral are also obtained in northern Mindanao, but actually no attempt has ever been made to which comes stone of fine quality. As to the gold product in Mindanao and elsewhere stories are told of its richness that rival anything you have heard of the Klondike. I do not know if they are true or not. One may safely set down as fact, however, that gold mining here offers a tempting and remunerative field. The deposits thus far found are naturally mostly in placers, but quartz gold is also known to exist.

I never knew till I came here where knife handles, opera glass frames, buttons and so many other handsome articles are made. I find these shells are exported in quantities that might be increased fiftyfold from the Philippine Islands. They are found especially in the neighborhood of Jolo and the souththan that of Manila.

and naturalist, the tourist or the immigrant seeking industrial and commercial advantage there is not today tumbled down at our feet without our expecting or asking for them.

Even now, in spite of the war, in spite of the more than half uncivilized character of a majority of the inhabitants of the country, the interisland trade is so valuable that there is a daily steamer service between some of the ports and a weekly, brand tri weekly one among others. Good sized seagoing vessels bring to Manila the cargoes of rice, hemp, tobacco, etc., which are shipped to other parts of the earth. The right name of manila hemp, which is not hemp at all, is abaca.

As it was in the beginning, so it is and shall be apparently. From an old ies and laborers did the hard and heavy work of the Philippine Islands 350 next century. Near Manila mahogany years ago. They are doing it today, just is abundant, but not so easily got at the same. If the Chinese were as good The logs are so heavy that they will not | fighters as they are workers, they would | now own the earth. Chinese laborers, merchants and mechanics having been pouring into the islands since before Magellan discovered them, there is naturally a considerable admixture of Chinese blood among the natives. These Chinese mestizos were the most capable and the most rebellious of her Spanish majesty's subjects in the Philippines.

When the Americans first came to the natives welcomed them as superior beings. They greeted the new white men as friends and deliverers and honest and would not cheat them. Consequently whatever the American soldier said was money they took as money, beer checks, patent medicine advertisements and other trash. They gave in return their good mangoes, winter, because they are the only grow- is a fact that soldiers from the south-

While I think of it I may mention that there are two kinds of money which are always good everywhere on the orient coast from Yokohama to Singapore and Manila and back again. These are Mexican silver dollars and American gold. In all the cities of the Asiatic Pacific your Mexican dollar is an international coin. American gold you can sell the world over, in the orient at a premium. If one is traveling around the world, a profitable way is to take his money in American gold and sell it as he needs funds. I have done this in three different cities, Hongkong, Manila and Singapore, in every instance at a premium, the bighest in Hongkong, the lowest in Singa-ELIZA ARCHARD CONNER.

Lime is a much used, and, very often, a much abused material on the farm. It has a very important role to play, and, if handled in the proper manner, is a valuable aid to the farmer. There vigor—no room for disease are many who use this material again and again with a mistaken notion as where the veins are filled to its true functions in the soil.

In time, however, their experience teaches them the true place of lime in agriculture, but often their lands have been almost exhausted before they gain their wisdom. While lime has a value as a plant food, yet its greatest worth on the farm is due to its physicial effect on soil.

Briefly described, the action of lime are as follows. If applied on a sandy soil it fills up the openings, makes the particles adhere closer, causes them to etain moisture better to absorb less eat during the day and retain more at night. On clay soils it separates the particles, making the soil more porous, thus easier for the passage of vater and air, and therefore, makes the soil warmer and easier to work.

Lime also hastens the decay of vegetable mater in the soil, which of course renders the natrogen more available. If a soil is sour, an application of lime will sweeten it If a green crop is plowed under, an application of lime will prevent the soil from becoming

There is one effect of lime that has no doubt frequently been noticed, although wrong conclusions have been mawn from it. It has often been expersenced that an application of lime proves very beneficial to clovers of all kinds. It was formerly thought that the lime itself was the only fertilizer needed for clover; it is now known, hewever, that the beneficial action of lime upon clover is due to the fact that lime liberates other plant food in the soil, notably potash, which is of so much importance in successful clover

It will be seen, however, that the continued application of lime alone we .'d soon cause the soil to become exhausted of its natural supply, not only potash, but also of phosphoric acid, and in time the land would become clover sick, which is a condition often met with.-R. Smith in Farm Journal.

In the Pigeon Loft.

"Any old building" may be made to enswer and yet be far from suitable. To be adapted to pigeons the roof should be rain and snow proof, and three of the sides, the ones most exposed to storms, should be free from crevices and substantially wind-proof. A rat and mice infested building should in no case be used for a loft unless some means are available for excluding them. Rats eat the eggs, and the squabs, too. Mice enter the nests and disturb the birds when hatching, and the grandest, largest and safest steamer do almost as much damage as their on fresh water. These steamers favorable larger kin.

A dry floor is essential in a pigeon loft and a dry atmosphere is just as important. The health of the birds depends largely on this condition. To secure it a board floor is required in some cases. This should be made of matched flooring, and be kept covered with clean sand.

Crippled by Rheumatisn..

Those who have Rheumatism find themselves growing steadily worse all the while One reason of this is that the remedies prescribed by the doctors contain mercury and potash, which ultimately intensify the disease by causing the joints to swell and stiffen, producing a severe aching of the bones. Next on the programme was an ad dress on "The Sunday School, the Hope of the Nation" by the Rev. O. P. Foust. Of the Nineteenth Annual Fair at He spoke of the nation springing from one family and as the family increased the wants increased. He said, "A nation is a man grown larger. Each person is as necessary in the nation as any part of the body. A nation is divided into four classes: The industrious, dependent, defective and delinquent. The industrious is the ruling class, although other salt of the earth, depends the progress of the nation. Just as the nation depends the church looks to the Sunday school church for our nation depends on the chilnation may advance. Next was a selection of instrumental music, after which a round table was conducted by Miss Ettie Eggert. This was quite interesting. Next was an address by the Rev. Torbet, on "Our Children in the Church." He said, "practice what our ministers preach. Children never complain of long sermons. We should make application of the bible truths and enforce them on the children. The child needs an awakening of desires and latent for a bribe. We need men never want | pulpit. Children are not incapable of religion. The Sunday school is the stepping stone to God and the church." Inwas given by the Rev. Mr. Wilson.

Every citizen of this city and the surrounding country should confolks on the second floor and the older Wise and Marsharkitchen; members of they may, through the great efforts of made up in the following order: Mayor gratulate themselves over the fact that the police force, mounted: Military band: the amusement committee, have an opportunity of seeing this, the finest collection of trained wild animals ever controlled by human hands. Millions of One Death Reported in New Orpeople have paid admission to see the work accomplished by the renowned

In this collection is the famous man eating lion, Wallace, the most beautiful a trio of handsome baby lions, just old enough to show how cunning they can be. Numbered among this collection will be found tigers, pumas, leopards hyenas, wolves, etc., in fact a specimen of nearly every wild animal that roams the forest, together with monkeys, baboons, orang-outangs, snakes, etc. The famous talking pony, Dandy, will give electric lights which will be needed to an exhibition of what an educated horse

The next great feature of the famous Midway is the streets of Cairo, an exact reproduction of a street scene taken from the city from which it derives its twenty electric arc lights and sixteen of name. Here will be found Egyptians. Arabians, Turks, Hindoos, whirling Dervishes, gun spinners, sword fighters. acrobats, magicians, dancers and everything that goes toward making one grand amusement. Thousands of dollars have been expended on the beautiful scenery alone, and as one walks along the street or takes a ride on one of the camels he cannot help but imagine that through some unknown agency he has been suddenly transported to some far off city of which much has been said and written, but which he never expected to see.

Next comes the most wonderful and magnificent mechanical device ever invented, the Venetian steam gondolas. Carved and gilded and with its display of mirrors it stands without a parallel, the most gorgeous amusement enterprise ever seen. Here it is that old and young can enjoy a realistic ride on the ocean wave in a real Venetian gondola.

Among the many other attractions will be found the Crystal Maze. So clever is this illusion that old and experienced guides who bave traveled with this marvelous maze find themselves fooled at times and have to call for as-

WENT DOWN FIFTEEN FEET

Picked up for Dead and Found to have a Dislocated Spine and Internal Injuries-All the Other News of the Big Institution.

John Keipinger, a patient, planged headlong from the veranda of the hospital but ding of the state asylum for the insane down upon the stone walks. Friday afternoon. He struck on his shoulder, dislocating the spiral column and sustaining internal injuries. An attendant was on the veranda with Keipinger at the time, but the latter took advantage of a mument when the employe's head was turned. It is supposed that he jumped with suic fal intentions. though he has not been regarded as that sort of patient, having never made any similar attempts before. He was received at the institution on August 15 from Tuscarawas county, and since that time had been on the veranda almost daily. Keipinger is 35 years c.d. He has been weak mentallyfor ten years, as the result of a substroke. Nothing is known concerning his relatives, the hospital authorities having in his case only the address of the superintendent of the Tuscarawas county infirmary, in which institution he was a patient for a long time previous to his being sent here. Dr. Rogers, assistant superintendent, savs that Keipinger is in a precarious condition.

The most interesting patient about the institution to visitors is the individual who is usually to sight at the infirmary, and whose pockets constantly bulge with notes and checks for millions. Visitors are never shown through this building, but few pass that way whose attention he cannot attract from his window. His gift of millions is usually preceded by a long communication signed "George Shaw, Detective." which generally has to do with the evils of the day and things religious so thoroughly mixed that a headache comes with every attempt to discover an intelligible sentence. He imagines himself immensely wealthy, and a greater man than Sherlock Holmes or "Old Sleuth." His has been a case of delusional insanity for fourteen years, and there is a story about the hospital that a too great indulgence in yellow backed literature is responsible for his being where he is. Shaw is a Tuscarawas county patient.

Among the week's visitors at the in stitution were Infirmary Director Jones, of Youngstown, who says his county's institution has more insane than can well be taken care of. Architect Packard, of Columbus, who designed all of the buildings of the institution and who is very well pleased with the way work has been carried on; and Superintendent Johnston, of the Junior Order of American Mechanics' Orphans' Home, at

"There are no men like some insane men to work," remarked an attache who knows a good laborer when he sees him. yesterday. "Now there's Billy Dantzenheiser, for instance Billy's a patient, but he would no sooner think of 'soldiering' when he's put on a job than I would of flying. I would n't exchange him for any day laborer there is in the town. Of course there's another kind. Some of these chaps are strewder about their way of killing time than any sane workman I ever met We never force them. and if you'll stand by and watch them go at the work in their different ways you can easily separate the man who likes to work from the others."

Dr. Richardson's new residence is completed at last, and he and his family are now preparing to vacate the Shriver property, in South Erie street, which has been their home for a year past.

As the number of persons employed at the institution increases, the demand for residences in that vicinity becomes greater. It is expected that a few years will see all the land now lying between Massillon and the hospital omit up. There are at present no available residences in the immediate vicinity of the asy'um. It seems out a matter of a few years until the institution itse't will be

There are patients who would not blok of allowing a day to pass without making a complete count of all visitors passing through the institution. The counters declare that July was the heaviest mouth for visitors the institution has ever had, 1.200 persons having been shown through during that time.
